हमारे जीवन में मोबाइल फोन: लाभ और हानि

मोबाइल फोन आज के समय में हमारे जीवन का एक महत्वपूर्ण हिस्सा बन गया है। यह एक ऐसा साधन है, जिसने लोगों के बीच संपर्क को बहुत आसान बना दिया है। इसकी मदद से हम अपने परिवार, दोस्तों और रिश्तेदारों से कभी भी और कहीं भी बात कर सकते हैं।

मोबाइल फोन पढ़ाई में भी बहुत उपयोगी है। छात्र इससे ऑनलाइन कक्षाएँ ले सकते हैं, नई जानकारी खोज सकते हैं और अपने स्कूल के कार्य पूरे कर सकते हैं। इसके अलावा, मोबाइल फोन से हम समाचार देख सकते हैं, गाने सुन सकते हैं, वीडियो देख सकते हैं और कई प्रकार की जानकारी प्राप्त कर सकते हैं। कठिन स्थिति में भी मोबाइल फोन बहुत मददगार होता है।

हालाँकि, मोबाइल फोन के कुछ नुकसान भी हैं। यदि इसका बहुत अधिक उपयोग किया जाए, तो यह स्वास्थ्य पर बुरा प्रभाव डाल सकता है। लंबे समय तक मोबाइल देखने से आँखों में दर्द, सिरदर्द और नींद की समस्या हो सकती है। कई बच्चे मोबाइल गेम्स और सोशल मीडिया में अधिक समय बिताने लगते हैं, जिससे उनकी पढ़ाई और खेलकूद प्रभावित होते हैं।

इसलिए हमें मोबाइल फोन का उपयोग अच्छी तरह और जिम्मेदारी के साथ करना चाहिए। हमें पढ़ाई, खेल और अन्य आवश्यक कार्यों के लिए भी समय निकालना चाहिए। सही तरीके से उपयोग करने पर मोबाइल फोन हमारे जीवन को आसान और अच्छा बना सकता है।

धरती माँ की पुकार

धरती माँ कहे पुकार-पुकार ,
तुम सुन लो मेरी गुहार।
क्या रह गया मेरा स्वरूप,
मर गई ममता की सारी आस।
मेरे जीवन में लाए तुम एक नया बदलाव।
एक बदलाव जिसने छीन ली मेरी सारी खुशियाँ,
अब बह रही मेरी आँखों से आसु की नदिया।
धरती माँ दिया तुमने मुझे नाम,
परंतु नहीं दिया उतना सम्मान।
जो हवा कभी शुद्ध और स्वच्छ थी,
आज वही हो गई है प्रदूषित।
तुमने इस भूमि पर युद्ध लडे,
पर कभी न मेरे दर्द को समझे।
पहले चारो ओर थी हरियाली,
जिससे जीवन में थी खुशहाली।
अब न रहा मेरा कोई माली,
इसलिए सुख गई है मेरी हर एक डाली।
लगती हूँ अब अधूरी-अधूरी,
मानो खो गई हो मेरी चमक पूरी।
तुमने मेरा साथ छोड़ दिया,
स्वार्थ का व्यवहार मुझसे किया।
अब मेरी इस बात पर विचार करो,
मुझ पर भी थोड़ा प्यार करो।
जब तुम्हें सहायता की आवश्यकता थी,
तब मैंने दिए तुम्हें हीरे-मोती।
पर जब मुझ पर संकट आया,
तब तुमने ही मुझसे मुँह मोड़ लिया।
सुनो सभी, मेरी बेटी दे रही यह संदेश,
दे रही इस लेख के माध्यम से,
मेरे दुखो को निर्देश।
आओ मिलकर मुझे फिर सजाएँ,
धरती माँ का सम्मान बचाएँ।

वह दिन, जब मैं अपना टिफिन लाना भूल गया था

एक दिन मैं जल्दी-जल्दी विद्यालय जाने की तैयारी कर रहा था। जल्दबाजी में मैं अपना टिफिन घर पर ही भूल गया। विद्यालय पहुँचने के बाद मुझे इसका ध्यान नहीं आया, लेकिन मध्यांतर की घंटी बजते ही मुझे याद आया कि मेरा टिफिन तो घर पर ही रह गया है।

यह सोचकर मैं थोड़ा उदास हो गया। तभी मेरे मित्रों ने पूछा कि मैं खाना क्यों नहीं खा रहा हूँ। जब मैंने उन्हें पूरी बात बताई, तो उन्होंने अपने-अपने टिफिन से खाना निकालकर मुझे दिया। हम सबने मिलकर भोजन किया और खूब बातें कीं।

मुझे अपने मित्रों का प्यार और सहयोग देखकर बहुत अच्छा लगा। उस दिन मैंने सीखा कि सच्चे मित्र हमेशा एक-दूसरे की मदद करते हैं। मैंने यह भी निश्चय किया कि आगे से विद्यालय जाने से पहले अपना टिफिन अवश्य जाँचूँगा।

वह दिन मेरे लिए एक यादगार दिन बन गया।

सूखी ज़मीन और दादी का कुआँ

एक गाँव में पानी की बहुत कमी हो गई थी, क्योंकि लोगों ने आस-पास के जंगल के सारे पेड़ काट दिए थे। गाँव के बीच में सिर्फ एक बुजुर्ग दादी का घर था, जिनके आँगन में ढेरों पेड़ और एक कुआँ था। पूरे गाँव के कुएँ सूख गए थे, लेकिन दादी के कुएँ में हमेशा मीठा पानी रहता था।

जब गाँव वाले पानी लेने गए तो दादी ने समझाया, "मेरा कुआँ इसलिए भरा हुआ है क्योंकि पेड़ों की जड़ें ज़मीन के पानी को पकड़कर रखती हैं।" गाँव वालों को बात समझ में आ गई और सभी ने पेड़ लगाने शुरू कर दिए!

सीख: पेड़ों का हमारे जीवन में बहुत ज़्यादा महत्व होता है।

One afternoon, Varanya and Mannat were exploring a library. While they were looking for a book behind a big, old wooden shelf, they noticed a small hidden door in the wall. "Look at this!" Mannat whispered. They slowly opened the door and stepped inside. To their surprise, it was not a storage room. Instead, they discovered a glowing portal that led to a magical, floating headquarters hidden in a galaxy filled with shimmering stars. Varanya said in wonder, "This is our own secret base! No one will ever find us here." From that day on, the secret room became the place of their great adventures. They filled the space with their favorite things, made it cozy and promised to keep their secret room secret forever.

PARROT AND THE KING

At one end of a forest lived a tribal chief while on the other, a sage. They both caught a parrot each. While the chief trained the parrot to talk like his tribe, the sage taught his parrot holy hymns. One day, an emperor rode through the forest. He passed by the chief's house. His parrot, hung outside in a cage, shouted, "catch this trespasser and beat him well!" "how impolite!" murmured the emperor and rode on. Exiting the forest, he passed by the sage's hut, whose parrot welcomed him, "Please come in and have a seat. What can I do for you?" The impressed emperor left rewarding the sage with gold.

My Robot Partner

I have a little helper,
Not made of bones or blood,
It lives inside a tablet,
A thinking digital bud.
I ask it, "What is 12 plus 7?"
It answers right away.
I ask it, "Show me planet Mars,"
It shows me Mars at play.
But when my heart is heavy,
Or I have a happy tear,
My robot just sits silently —
It cannot feel or hear.
So I will learn my spellings,
And draw my own blue sky.
The AI helps me travel,
But it's ME who learns to fly.

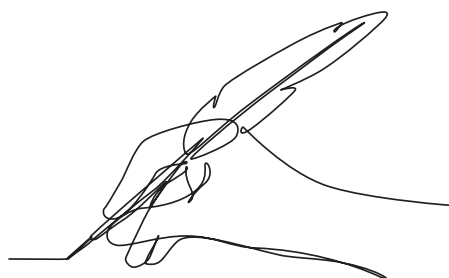

Moral: AI gives answers, but humans ask the real questions and feel the real joy.

LETTING GO THE RIGHT WAY

Maybe there is no happily ever after. Maybe it only exists in fairy tales like Cinderella. Pain is just a part of life; It can never really go away. As Stephanie Bennett Henry rightfully said, "I think it's beautiful the way you carry the pain as long as you need to, until it doesn't hurt anymore, and finally put it down, lay it to rest, and only visit it again to grab the knowledge from the lesson and sometimes you place flowers on the grave of what you learned, but this time you don't cry and that is everything." There is no way to speed up the process. There is no way you can fast forward it. All you can do is feel it, really feel it until you don't feel it anymore. You can surely ask for help if it makes you feel any better. But in the end it's just you, you are the only person who can bring yourself out of the situation. To do this, you first need to learn to let go, accept the fact that things are wrong and make them right. There is always a time to cry your heart out, to cry and tell yourself that there is something that needs fixation. You need to stop being ignorant of the fact. To let go of the pain, you first have to embrace it. Moving on takes time. Your time might be longer than someone else's or maybe shorter but that is also what makes you unique. You and your flaws. You with all of your flaws make one of a kind and no one can take it from you. You are beautiful and deserve best of both worlds. Of course, you made some major mistakes, of course you gave your time and effort to wrong people or the wrong ideas but that does not mean that you can never be right. If you could go back to your past, would you like to change the major mistakes you made? Would you redo them all? Would you like to erase them once and for all? Well, I would not! My wrong choices and my mistakes made me the better person that I am today and I am proud of myself for doing that. I am proud of all my mistakes and my wrongdoings. Think about the time when you were depressed and you were sure you won't be able to make it. Well, here you're now and congratulations you made it! You conquered your fear. Your fear of letting something go, your fear of letting someone go, and your fear of becoming someone else. Aren't you proud of the person you have become now? Think about the time you viewed yourself as a worthless fellow. Do you like the better person that you are now? And do you think you could have become this person if it weren't for the mistakes you made? So, congratulations you've made it and now you know that you got so much more potential in yourself. You are a great human being who deserves love. Letting go is a slow process. It can never happen in a day. You will never be able to figure out the date you actually let go of the pain and moved on to become a better person, a better version of yourself and letting go is never a bad decision. There were days when you cried a lot. Days when you cried yourself to sleep every single night. And there was something always at the back of your head that haunted you throughout the day. But the day you decide to let it go, happiness is promised. Sometimes, even efforts do not bring results. Maybe it was a person that you wanted or a materialistic goal. You tried, you tried really hard but it didn't just come to you. Even then, you cannot waste your life crying about it. That part is dead and you need to put it where it belongs. In the cemetery of your pains. A place from where you can just revisit them, revise the lessons that you forget and remind yourself that no matter what happens you are always going to make it

MUSICAL MYSTERY

Once upon a time, there lived a girl named Eva in a small town called Austin. Rylan was her best friend. They shared an inseparable bond and had been close ever since middle school. Their shared love for music strengthened their friendship. While music was Eva's hobby, it was Rylan's passion. He always talked about becoming a popular singer and often said he was inspired by Eva.

Rylan belonged to a poor family and spent his weekends singing at a café. One day, a well-known record producer visited the café. After hearing Rylan sing, he immediately recognized his talent. Before Rylan knew it, he had signed a record deal with a man named Charles, who promised to make him a superstar.

Soon after, Rylan left the city and moved to Los Angeles. Eva tried to keep in touch for the first couple of months, but eventually, Rylan stopped replying to her texts and answering her calls. Three years passed, yet Eva still felt hurt and betrayed by her best friend.

Now that Rylan was a superstar on tour, his posters and figurines were everywhere. Every time Eva saw them, she remembered the pain of his silence. She would even tear down his posters. Once, she was almost arrested for vandalizing a model of Rylan in a café—and for traumatizing a five-year-old who saw her do it!

Eva was now working as a journalist and often attended events full of celebrities. One day, she accompanied her boss to the inauguration of a luxurious golf club.

While working, she glanced across a table and froze—Rylan was standing there.

She felt the ground vanish beneath her feet. All the angry speeches she had practiced disappeared from her mind. Acting on impulse, she ran forward to hug him—only to be pushed away by his security. When she tried to explain that she was his friend, Rylan himself told the guards he didn't know her.

That day, Eva was completely humiliated. She cried for hours, unable to understand why Rylan was pretending not to remember her. She knew something was wrong. So she began to research—and eventually to stalk—him online.

She realized that Rylan never mentioned his early life or his childhood friends in interviews, which even his fans found unusual. Determined to find the truth, she applied for a job as one of his secretaries. She got the job partly because she wasn't one of his fans.

As soon as she got the chance, she grabbed Rylan, dragged him into an empty room, and shut the door. Before he could call security, she began reminding him who she was. But Rylan still didn't seem to remember. Something about her voice, however, broke through his confusion.

Rylan suddenly broke down into tears and revealed the truth.

Charles, the man who managed him, had been using Rylan's name for shady business deals. Rylan had found out three years ago and was on his way to report Charles to the police when he met with a terrible accident. He fell into a coma for a couple of weeks.

When he woke up, a huge part of his memory was gone.

Charles lied to him about his past. But recently, Rylan had discovered the truth and tried to confront Charles. In response, Charles kidnapped Rylan's mother and had been threatening him ever since. Eva's heart filled with sorrow. She wanted to help Rylan, but he refused, saying it was too dangerous. Eva reminded him of their childhood promise—to always stick together, no matter what. Both of them broke down and hugged each other.

MUSICAL MYSTERY

Eva secretly placed a microphone chip and GPS tracker on Charles. With their help, she and Rylan discovered where Charles was keeping Rylan's mother—a secluded lighthouse. They collected enough evidence to put Charles and his men in prison for at least twenty years.

Rylan and Eva went to the old, abandoned lighthouse, only to find it heavily guarded.

They made a plan: Rylan would distract the guards while Eva searched for and rescued his mother. The mission was far from perfect. Eva and Rylan's mother climbed down a ladder inside the lighthouse, barely able to breathe. But they were soon spotted and chased to the edge of a cliff overlooking the ocean.

With no choice left, they jumped—Rylan first, then Eva and his mother.

Fortunately, the three swam safely back to shore and immediately rushed to the police station with the evidence. Charles and his men were arrested for good.

Rylan hugged his mother tightly and took her to the hospital for a check-up. Later, when they reached home, Rylan thanked Eva from the bottom of his heart for risking her life to save him and his mother—even though they hadn't spoken for over three years.

Eva smiled and said, "That's what friends are for!"

Rylan laughed. "Friends? I thought we were best friends!"

They spent the evening reminiscing about their childhood. Rylan stopped singing for a while, but when he saw the love and support of his fans—and with Eva's encouragement—he returned to the stage. He delivered the best performance of his career.

And Eva was the happiest person in the world for him.
